

ABSTRACT

The invention describes a boring device for producing tubed bored piles, in which during sinking, simultaneously a tubing with inside auger is introduced into the ground using the rotary boring method.